STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

There are at present two different enactments in force in the State on the subject of Police Administration, namely, Act V of 1861 in force in the Bangalore City and the Regular and Village Police Rules of 1872 in force in the rest of Mysore. The desirability of having one uniform system of administration throughout the State was recognized in 1886; and a Draft Regulation was prepared having for its object the repeal of Act V of 1861 in the Bangalore City and the extension thereto of the Police Rules with suitable modifications. In 1889, however, it was decided to frame a Regulation adopting Act V of 1861 in preference to the Rules, any necessary portions of the latter being, at the same time, retained as Rules under the Regulation; but the criticisms elicited tended to show that this draft was imperfect in many particulars and required much revision before it could be passed into law. Under these circumstances it was dropped in 1897 and a fresh Draft Regulation was prepared on the basis of the Bombay Act IV of 1890, which, with such modifications and additions as the circumstances of the State rendered necessary, seemed, to be an improvement upon the draft of 1889. This draft dealt with the Regular Police only (the Village Police being reserved to form the subject of a separate enactment) and also embodied in the proper places the provisions of the Gambling Act III of 1867, the extension of which to Mysore had been repeatedly suggested from various quarters. Later on, the draft was further revised in the Legislative Department to bring it into greater conformity with the existing system of Police Administration in Mysore, and was in September 1901 published in the Mysore Gazette for general information.

Before taking up the draft for final consideration, however, Government thought that the importance of the subject and the various interests involved rendered it necessary that the draft should undergo revision at the hands of some officers of Government having experience of the local conditions in general and the working of the Police Department in particular. Accordingly in Government Order No. J. 565-77—Legis. 11-04, dated the 29th August 1904, a Committee was appointed composed of the marginally noted officers, for revising the Draft Police Regulation. The Committee after much deliberation and discussion have submitted their report in which they recommend several changes in the Draft Regulation. The more important of the additions and alterations recommended by the Committee are noted below:—

Members.
1. Mr. A. Rangaswami Iyengar, then Judge, Chief Court, President.
2. Mr. F. E. C. Carr, Inspector General of Police.
3. Mr. M. Narain Rao, then Deputy Commissioner, Kadur.
4. Mr. K. P. Puttanna Chetty, then Deputy Commissioner, Kolar.

Section 3, re power to make Rules as to Village Police, is new and is based on Madras Act III of 1865, Sections 78 and 79.

Section 4, clause (b). The definition of "District Superintendent" has been taken from Act VIII of 1895.

Clause (c), (e) and (g). The definitions of "Inspector," "District," "Taluk" and "Sub-Taluk" are new; the word "District" has been so defined as to include a portion of a district placed in charge of a District Superintendent for the purposes of this Regulation.

Section 5, re constitution of the Police Force, has been adapted from Section 2 of Act V of 1861 in lieu of Section 4 of the Bombay Act, which contemplates a separate Police Force for each district.

Section 10. A form of certificate of appointment to be granted to Inspectors by the Inspector-General has been prescribed and the form of certificate for officers below the grade of Inspectors has been so altered as not to give room to any policeman to understand that he has a right to employment in any one district.

Section 12 is new. It provides that the Inspector-General shall be the head of the Police Department and the adviser of Government in all matters connected with the Police; that he will exercise general control over the Police Force and over crime, more particularly, organized and professional crime, and, subject to the approval of Government, make rules and orders in certain matters connected with the regulation, control and discipline of the Police Force.

Section 15 (1), which is new, empowers the District Superintendent, under the general control of the Deputy Commissioner who, under Section 14, is the head of the Police in his district, and without prejudice to the powers and responsibilities of the latter, to have control over the equipment, drill, education and such other routine matters connected with the Police of the district.

Sub-Section (2) similarly defines the respective powers of the Amildar or Deputy Amildar and the Inspector over the Taluk Police.

Section 16, which is taken from Rule 27 of the Regular Police Rules, empowers the Deputy Commissioner to make any necessary distribution of the Police Force within his jurisdiction.

Sections 18 and 19. Under these sections, both the Inspector-General and the Deputy Commissioner have been enabled to take the initiative in the matter of employing additional Police when necessary.

Section 22. The provisions of this section have been made applicable not only to cases of injury arising from a riot or an unlawful assembly, within the area notified as being in a disturbed state, but also to cases where the necessity for such notification has been obviated by the disturbance subsiding after the unlawful assembly has attained its object.

Section 25. The matters in regard to which the Inspector-General may call for reports and statements have been more fully enumerated.

Section 27 (2). Limits appeals on orders of punishment of constables to the Inspector-General, appeals in the case of other officers being made to lie to Government.

Section 38. This section, which empowers the District Magistrate, etc., to authorize a Police Officer to enter a common gaming house, has been taken from the Public Gambling Act III of 1867 and Madras Act III of 1888 and made applicable to the whole State, as gambling has spread even to remote villages.

Section 45. Empowers Police Officers not below the grade of Inspector to regulate assemblies, etc., in public streets, the power being exercised subject to any rules made by proper authority.

Section 53 has been amended by providing for submission of reports regarding unclaimed property to a Magistrate having local jurisdiction instead of to "such Magistrate as the Magistrate of the District shall from time to time appoint" and for the Magistrate following the procedure laid down in Section 523 of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

Section 55, clause (b). This has been re-drafted by adopting the form of the Rule as given in the Madras City Police Act, Section 71 (5), and by combining with it a provision against rash or negligent driving.

Clause (g). The acts mentioned in this clause have been made penal without proof of obstruction, danger, alarm or annoyance.

To the last clause of this section, a proviso has been added that imprisonment in default of payment of fine shall not exceed eight days notwithstanding anything contained in Section 67 of the Indian Penal Code, as it is deemed unnecessary to allow a longer term of imprisonment in such cases.

Section 76. This section has been slightly altered so as to make it applicable not only to forfeitures, etc., payable by law to Police Officers, but also to sums awarded to them by Magistrates, and also to provide for the whole or any portion of such rewards being granted to any other persons besides Police Officers.

Sub-Sections (2) and (3) of Section 77, which required Municipalities to provide accommodation for the Police employed for their service, have been omitted as these bodies have been relieved of Police charges and there is no separate Police Force for any Municipality.
